SHERMAN WILL BE HERE TUESDAY

New Castle Business Men Plan to Entertain the Vice-President at Banquet There Wednesday.

ARRANGE TOWARD THAT END

He Will be Brought Here From Indianapolis in Automobile to Remain Until Wednesday.

It was definitely settled at a meeting which James E. Watson and a party of twenty New Castle citizens held here last night that Vice-president James S. Sherman will be in this city on Tuesday, October eleventh, and in New Castle the following day. This agreement was reached because New Castle men had been given the impression that Sherman would be there on Wednesday and they have begun preparations to that end. The New Castle party came here in automobiles and was entertained for dinner at the Scanlan House by Mr. Watson.

Mr. Sherman will be in Rushville most of the time during his two days' stay in Indiana and opportunity will be afforded for Rushville people to become acquainted with him. He will arrive in Indianapolis Tuesday morning at eleven-fifteen o'clock and will be met by Mr. Watson in an automobile and brought directly to this city in the machine. After lunch at Mr. Watson's home he will make a brief speech some place on the public square which will be arranged by the Rushville Retail Merchants Association.

The manner in which Mr. Sherman will be entertained in the evening of that day is as yet indefinite. It is probable that some form of entertainment will be provided so that it will be possible for Mr. Sherman to meet everyone in the city. Wednesday morning an automobile party of Rushville men will be formed and will conduct Mr. Sherman to New Castle, where he will be entertained that day.
New Castle citizens are planning to outdo themselves in their entertainment. A big banquet will be held in the open air at the Nip and Tuck club in the afternoon. Mr. Sherman will be compelled to leave early that evening for Chicago.

The entertainment of Mr. Sherman in the afternoon will probably be in charge of the merchants. It is expected that arrangements will be made this evening to accord him a royal welcome. He will be willing to make a speech in the afternoon, according to Mr. Watson, and arrangements will be made in all probability for a platform to be erected in the court house yard.

BELIEVED HORSE STOLEN

Finally Located in Will M. Sparks' Back Yard.

The valuable saddle horse belonging to Guy Abercrombie was either stolen or broke loose from in front of the Scaletta fruit store yesterday afternoon about two o'clock. Mr.
Abercrombie hitched the horse so as to transact some business and when he returned it was gone. He immediately notified Chief McAllister, and after searching for about an hour the horse was finally located at the Will M. Sparks residence in North Main street, where it was peacefully eating grass.

The Misses Sallie and Nellie Adams have returned from a several day's stay in Chicago.

HOSKIN BOY TAKEN HOME

Judge Decides Best Place For Him
is Indianapolis.

James Hoskins, the twelve-year-old colored boy, who was placed in jail last Saturday after confessing to the theft of a bicycle, was sent to his home in Indianapolis today. He had been in the city most of the summer being sent here it is said, by his father, Perry Hoskins, who formerly lived here. After consulting Judge Blair about what should be done with him, it was decided that the best thing to be done was to send him back home.

MARKERSOUGHT FOR THREE YEARS, FOUND

Cicero Newhouse, on Visit in South, Discovers Place on Battlefield
Where Friend Was Killed.

MANY INTERESTING SIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Newhouse have returned home from a trip through the South and say there is no place like home although the welcomes of "God bless you" of the warm-hearted southern people made them feel much at home.

They stopped off at Asheville, N.
C., and viewed the Blue Ridge mountains, over which Mrs. Newhouse's mother crossed years ago, coming from North Carolina to Indiana.
They also saw here the Swannee river made famous by "Way Down on the Swannee River," and Biltmore Mansion, the home of Alfred Vanderbilt.

On their return trip they viewed the battlefields of Chattanooga. Mr.
Newhouse found a marker, which he had hunted for for three different times, showing where a dear friend of his boyhood days was shot down by an enemy's ball.

DOG'S HEAD SENT TO STATE LABORATORY

Will Determine if the Dog That Bit Thomas Scanlan, Was Suffering From Rabies.

WOUND MAY PROVE SERIOUS

Nightwatchman Thomas Scanlan was bit on the leg early this morning by an old dog belonging to Charles Perkins. The nightwatchman had passed the dog a number of times before and he had never even growled at him and when the dog attacked him this morning Mr. Scanlan was very much surprised. The injury, while not thought to be serious may cause him considerable trouble and to make sure the dog was not suffering from rabies, the head was sent to the laboratory of hygiene of the State Board of Health for examination. It may be several days before a report is given as to whether the head contained negri bodies. Mr.
Scanlan has had numerous complaints of late about the number of stray dogs around the court house square and an effort may be made to get rid of them.

Robert F. Powell, administrator of the estate of Amelia J. Powell, deceased, filed exceptions to findings against Ida M. Lowden and Margaret Glendenning in the circuit court today.

VETERANS MEET IN LEWISVILLE

Over 100 Survivors of Famous 84th
Indiana Volunteer Infantry Gather For Reunion.

PROGRAM IN OPERA HOUSE

Mrs. Harriet Norden Lutes of Springfield, O., "Daughter of Regiment" Gives Reading.

Battle-scarred veterans of the civil war, members of the famous Eighty-fourth Indiana Volunteer Regiment, more than one hundred of the survivors, met in Lewisville yesterday to hold their annual reunion.
The programs of the day were held in the Guyer opera house in Lewis-ville, beginning at one o'clock in the afternoon, which followed a splendid dinner which was served by the women of the Presbyterian church of Lewisville. The morning was taken up with meeting and receiving the veterans and a general good time.

The business session of the reunion was called to order at 1 o'clock by the president, Major G. N. Carter of Winchester. The invocation was delivered by N. H. Pierce of New Castle. The minutes of the last meeting were read and the roll call issued. Officers for the ensuing year were elected.

The afternoon entertainment included readings by Mrs. Harriet Norden Lutes of Springfield, O. Mrs.
Lutes is known as "the daughter of the regiment," and is a great favorite with the veterans. The afternoon program closed with the singing of "America." The music was led by the Rev. Isaac P. Watts of Winchester.

In the evening the annual campfire was held. The program opened with the invocation by the Rev. O.
P. Gottschal of Lewisville. The veterans were welcomed to Lewisville by the Rev. O. J. Bills, to which Rev.
Watts responded. A musical number was furnished by Fred Lavercomb, followed by a reading by Mrs. Lutes.
Musical selections were rendered by the Richardson quartet.

The campfire program included short talks by the veterans. The song, "Marching Through Georgia" was sung under the leadership of the Rev. Watts. The evening session closed with benediction by Rev. T. M.
Todd.

Showers this afternoon. Probably fair tonight and Friday.

PROSPECTS NOT GOOD FOR TEAM

New Rule May be the Death Knell to Football in Local High School.

TENDS TO REDUCE THE SQUAD

Players Must Present Statements
From Parents and Also Physician.

The "parental permission" and the doctor's "advice" rule as laid down by the board of control of the Indiana High School Athletic Association will just about put an end to high school football, as far as Rushville is concerned, is the opinion of many. Under the new rule it is necessary for each boy playing football to present a card to the principal of the school from a practicing physician as to his physical condition and consent of his parents. This rule is expected to cut the local squad down and as the material is none too plentiful it is doubtful if the high school will have a team.

Speaking of this new rule the Marion Chronicle says:

"If the 'parental permission and the doctor's advice' rule, instituted by the board of control of Indiana high school athletics in 1910-1911, is a failure, then football as a high school sport will next year be a thing of the past."

Expressing not the least semblance of doubt in making this declaration, J. T. Giles, superintendent of Marion city schools and permanent secretary of the State board of control of high school athletics, sounded what is thought by some to be the death knell of high school football. Accidents are sure to occur during the coming football season and the rule laid down can not prevent them, it is believed. Inasmuch as the rule will fail in this respect, and in this way in its main object followers of game regard the declaration one that will mean probably the end of the game.

Following the close of the 1910 season, in Indiana, the resulting list of injured and the protests from the parents of those taking part, the board of control of which Mr. Giles is secretary laid down the "parental permission and doctor's advice" rule.
The rule says explicitly any Indiana high school student wishing to take part in high school football would be required to present to the principal of his high school a card bearing both the signature of his guardian and the statement of his physical condition by some practicing physician. This rule has cut down the squads of almost every Indiana high school, eliminating the responsibility of the school authorities and kept from participation a certain class whose physical condition would necessarily prevent them from taking part in the game.

These rules, stringent as they are and coming into the high schools of the State of smaller students has caused to a certain extent the loss of interest in football. But few of the State's schools are playing the game and a few years would mean the end of football in State high schools regardless of the disposition of the State board of control. The board of control is to give the new rules another season's trial and should the injuries resulting while they are in effect reach the number resulting during the season of 1910, will in all probability altogether abandon the game as a high school sport.

SAYS DAFFYDILS DISTRACT HIM

Indignant Subscriber of Daily Republican Pens Letter Registering Kick About Popular Feature.

DECLARES IT A BIG NUISANCE

Anonymous Writer Asserts he Hears Them Everywhere and His Boy Coins Them While Asleep.

The Daily Republican is in receipt of a communication for the peoples' column, but the tone and general import of the letter is so comical that it was deemed best to give it more prominence. In it the anonymous writer registers a violent kick against "Daffydils" and then proves in the "P. S." that he has already succumbed to the malady. The letter follows:

Rushville Ind., Sept. 20, 1911.
Editor Daily Republican.

Dear Sir:—I have been a subscriber to your paper for many years, but never before did I read such foolishness as that Daffydil stuff. I can't see any sense whatever to it. I have been following that column in the paper close every evening and so far I have never been able to discover what it means.

I have always stood by the Republican in everything, but I am afraid that I will have to find fault with it this time. If there was any excuse for that—I don't know what to call it—I wouldn't object. I think you have run it in the ground already and I believe it is about time to call a halt. Of course, you probably know more about running a newspaper than I do, but I know what I think about such craziness.

I object to it in the main because these Daffydils are about to send me to the bug house. I can't go any place but what somebody has a new one to whisper in my ear. I've heard one now about a dozen times, I think.
Why, I go home for a meal and the kids all run at me with a new Daffy-dil. Even my wife descended so low as to crack one of those cheap puns on my name the other day. Maybe you can guess it from that remark.

The other night I woke up and heard my oldest boy talking in his sleep and you can shoot me on the spot if he was not trying to figure out one. Well, that got the best of me and I went and made him wake up and start to sleep all over again.
I hear it where I work, I hear it on the streets, in my home, my boy dreams about it and now pretty soon I'll be dreaming about it.

Now I hope you will not keep it up much longer. It makes me tired to hear the blamed things and I have heard a lot of people say that they can't see what you want to give space to such rubbish.

Yours,
INDIGNANT SUBSCRIBER.

P. S.—How's this one? I just thought of it while I was writing this letter: "If Jim Watson could carry Indiana, how much could Lieut.
Gov. Hall?"

I'd rather you would not publish this.

WHY CALLED "COPPERS."

New York Sun: A Sun reader desired to know several days ago why it was that New York City policemen are sometimes spoken of as "cops" or "coppers." Under the charter of 1847 a police force for the city was established. The members were no uniforms. They wore glazed caps and a copper button in the lapel of their coats reading "Member of the Police Force of New York City." From the copper buttons came the term
"copper" or "cop."

Daffydil Doings Down In Dippy Dell

Professor Brown is ordinarily a very common citizen but the other day when he stepped into his new seven-passenger six-cylinder man killer and ordered his chauffeur to drive him to the nearest barber shop for a shave, he made most people black with envy. The professor warned his driver to observe the speed limit at all hazards even if the buzz wagon did object. The machine sped down Main street and at the I. & C. crossing a legless individual with one arm in a crutch darted in front of the car. Prof. turned white and then closed his eyes. The impact came and the poor unfortunate individual was hurled into the Mauzy Company's plate glass window. The driver brought the car to a standstill while the professor picked the splinters from the crutch out of his eyes and ran it back to the scene of the accident.

Prof. Brown leaped from the machine, took the cripple's head in his arms and began to give it a first class shampoo when the individual said in a tiny Rah-Rah voice:

"If Lewis Clark bought a new automobile could he keep Charley Off-ut?"

Leave this spot at once, here comes a remonstrator!

Mail Order Catalogues Are Full of "Jokers"

Politicians, members of legislatures and of congress are not the only people who know how to put over a "joker" upon the public. The average mail order house is quite as proficient along this line as is any law maker.

One of the best jokes that we have recently seen is found in a catalogue which is issued by one of the biggest mail order concerns in the country. At the beginning of this catalogue there are several pages devoted to the advantages of buying goods by mail, etc. On one of these pages we find an article to retail merchants. It goes on to tell the retail dealer that if he wishes to purchase goods from this mail order house they will be very glad to sell them to him, as much as he wants but that he will be required to pay the same price as the public pays. The idea that any retail dealer would buy merchandise from a catalogue house is too absurd to require comment. Retail dealers as a rule do not purchase the same quality of goods that catalogue houses handle, nor do they find that catalogue houses sell them or could sell them merchandise as cheap as manufacturers could. Catalogue houses know this, and they never expect to or wish to sell any merchandise to a retail dealer. This article is simply put in their catalogue to lead the public to believe that goods which they might buy of their retail dealers are bought from all mail orders, and that the dealers has put an additional profit on these goods which the consumer can avoid paying by simply ordering from the same mail order house which the dealer has patronized. It is almost an insult to the average American citizen to assume that he would believe that any retail dealer ever bought merchandise from the catalogue house which sells to the public.

This instance is related as an example of the misrepresentations which the average mail order house indulges in, in order to win trade which would otherwise go to retail merchants.

It is only a fact that the retail merchants in Rushville are selling goods just as cheaply as any mail order concern, but that they deserve the patronage of the public for other reasons. Our home merchants pay taxes in Rush county, they help to keep up their towns and public improvements in this district. Mail order concerns pay no taxes whatever. They do nothing to better or improve this county. The value of property, both town property and farming, depends to a great extent upon the prosperity and up-to-dateness of our towns. This materially increases and maintains the price of both farm property and town property. These facts should be borne in mind by everybody, and nobody should send his money outside of our home county, at least until he has gone to his local dealer and compared goods closely both and quality and prices of the goods which he sells with those sold by mail order concerns. We have no quarrel with concerns which sell goods by mail order. So long as they seek to sell goods in this vicinity without misrepresentation as to the quality or the terms on which they sell, all well and good. But we strongly suggest that they avoid gross exaggeration, and if they do not avoid it the public take note of their methods and consider how much allowance must be made for the many illogical statements which appear in mail order advertisements and mail order catalogues.

The leading manufacturers of the United States who make high quality merchandise have determined to acquaint the public with the many disadvantages of mail order buying which more than offset any seeming advantage in low price. The effect of this work is already being felt by retail merchants throughout the country, and the indications are that unless exaggerative statements are eliminated from mail order literature now in use many of these concerns will be forced to quit business. The United States government has put a number of mail order concerns out of business for fraudulent use of the mails, and each year the United States postoffice officials are sentinizing more closely the methods and statements of all concerns who sell goods by mail. Unfortunately there are so many loopholes through which to escape that it seems almost impossible to convict mail order concerns who are seeking business through misrepresentation.

Only a short time ago a leading Chicago mail order house was assailed at a hearing before the parcels post commission at Washington. This concern had been indicted on a charge of using the mail to defraud but as usual the case was thrown out of court on technicalities.

A Great Advantage to Workmen.

I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise. F. B. Johnson & Co.

HER HAIR GREW

That's Why a Thankful Woman Recommends Parisian Sage.

F. B. Johnson & Co. will sell you a fifty cent bottle of PARISIAN SAGE and guarantee it to banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back. It's a delightful hair dressing that makes hair lustrous and fascinating.

"In the spring I was recovering from a severe case of erysipelas, which left me virtually bald on the front of my head and next to my ears. The hair kept coming out rapidly and nothing I used stopped my getting entirely bald, until I used two bottles of PARISIAN SAGE. This tonic made my hair start to grow in and, in fact, grew me a good fair amount of hair, and it has entirely stopped my hair falling out.

It is with pleasure that I give a public recommendation to PARISIAN SAGE, which I know is a wonder." Mrs. Ella Gilchrist, W. Pitt St., Bedford, Pa.

DO You Want to Read a New Kind of a Love Story? Here it is in

The Girl From His Town

By Marie Van Vorst

IN this altogether charming and delightful story about to appear in serial form in this paper, Miss Van Vorst has taken a young man out of a Montana mining town and dropped him down uncereemoniously in the midst of London's smart set. There he sees and hears and meets Letty Lane, the reigning comic opera success. It is she who is The Girl From His Town, for once upon a time she sang in a church choir on Sundays and on week-days served ice cream soda water at the corner drug store.

It is a clever and dashing story that will leave you happy and satisfied, for it is told with an animation that makes you see vividly through the author's eyes and her picturesque descriptions.

Report of the Dominion's Fifth Census.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 21.—The official figures of Canada's fifth census, which was begun last June, will be made public in a few days, as soon as the returns are in from the far-off Yukon and northwest districts. While the figures at hand will not be given out in detail, many of the facts disclosed by the census are available. First among these is the fact that Canada's total population is well under the eight million mark. The returns show that Toronto and Montreal have made the largest gains in population, the former the greatest percentage of gain, and the latter the largest gain in numbers. The maritime provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have not grown as have Quebec and the other provinces, but they have more than held their own. The gains in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were confined to Halifax and the mining sections mostly. Prince Edward Island has stood still. The province of Quebec will show large gains all around. In Ontario the population of the rural districts has fallen off. All the western provinces show real gains, the largest percentage of gain being credited to Alberta.

TROUBLE IN THE I. O. O. F. RANKS

Patriarchs Militant Resent Loss of Independence.

INSURGENTS THREATEN SPLIT

When Sovereign Grand Lodge Gave to Its Executive Head Right to Name Commander of Patriarchs Militant, Which Body Heretofore Has Been Practically Independent, Threats of Rebellion Were Heard.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—Without discussion and almost without opposition, the recommendations of Grand Sire Cockrum that the office of commander of the Patriarchs Militant be made an appointive one were adopted by the sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows. The question was made one of endorsing the actions of the grand sire, which it is said killed any opposition there might have been to the recommendation.

It is generally understood that General M. A. Raney, now commanding the Patriarchs, will be displaced at the end of his term next January, and General A. R. Stocker of Ohio will be named to succeed him. The position pays $3,500 a year. Grand Sire Cockrum refuses to confirm this and declines to discuss the matter at this time.

Before the sovereign grand lodge took action, General Raney conceded his defeat, and said he would bow to the decision with the best grace possible. He was a candidate for re-election as commander, and if the law governing the choosing of a commander had not been changed he would probably have been re-elected for a term of four years.

The action of Grand Sire Cockrum and William H. Leedy, grand secretary of Indiana, in causing the manner of selecting the commanding officer of the Patriarchs Militant to be changed so that the grand sire is practically vested with supreme power over the Patriarchs Militant, which, up to this time, has been practically independent of him, has caused much bitterness in the ranks of the Patriarchs Militant, and some of the insurgents have predicted that it will eventually cause a split.

The only other action of importance taken by the grand lodge Wednesday was the adoption of a resolution permitting the grand lodges in various states to levy a special tax on the membership for the establishment and maintenance of tuberculosis sanitariums. Several grand lodges may combine or they may provide for the care of the tubercular members in established institutions.

The parade last night, the principal spectacular feature of the meeting, was participated in by more than 20,000 Odd Fellows. The brilliantly uniformed Patriarchs Militant in their well-drilled cantons, formed a notable feature of the parade. Several thousand uniformed men were in the ranks, including the departments of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Ontario, which were represented by full corps of officers and members. Subordinate lodges from all over the state had come to swell the ranks of the marchers, and nearly every county in the state was represented by a brass band. Numerous attractive floats lent variety to the spectacle.

Hundreds of persons attended the ceremonies at the Colfax monument in University park, when the Rebekahs of this and other states decorated the monument with appropriate exercises. Schuyler Colfax was the founder of the Daughters of Rebekah. The monument was erected by Rebekahs.

SPEEDY JUSTICE

Before Public Knew of Crime This Negro Was in Penitentiary.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 21.—Frank Herron, colored, was sentenced two to twenty-one years by Judge John Rawley for a criminal assault on seventeen-year-old Bessie Stout, white, an orphan living west of the city.

Herron coaxed the girl into his room, saying his wife wanted to see her, and kept her there under lock and key several hours. Afterward he went out on the street and offered to sell her to other negroes for $2. The police found the girl in the rear of Will Cook's saloon in a state of nervous prostration. Herron was arrested and the police kept his crime dark until he was slipped into court and sentenced.

Charged With Killing Wife.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 21.—Eugene Holley, alias Francis Connors, was indicted by the Vigo county grand jury charged with murdering his wife, Vinie Holley, last July by administering chloroform while she slept. After the coroner had pronounced death due to an accident, Holley married Miss Mary Owens under the name of Connors. The police charge Holley has another wife living at Alpine, whom he married under the name of Cash.

UPPER PENINSULA IS ALL SOLID FOR TAFT

First Time a President Ever Visited There.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 21.—President Taft was introduced for the principal address of the day by Representative Young of this district, who made the president's appearance the occasion for a bitter attack upon "the spurious progressiveness of shiftily politicians at which cynics smile and angels weep." This introduction was made by the congressman to some 8,000 of his constituents at a mass meeting. Representative Young in his introduction of the president put him before his audience as a president and leader who had been "prudently and aggressively progressive," exercising a "genuinely progressive constructive-ness." And having said this of Mr. Taft's progressiveness, he proceeded to tear the hide from those progressives whose stronghold lay but ninety miles farther to the west. The crowd gave their congressman the applause that he bid for in his speech.

The day ended the president's visit to the upper peninsula and the Taft special turned southward for Grand Rapids. The upper peninsula enjoyed hugely its first sight of a president. "Turning out" is one of the specialties that it prides itself on, and that it did every time that Mr. Taft put his foot off his car.

Coroner Frees Girl of Blame.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 21.—Dr. A. L. Palmer, coroner, has given a verdict to the effect that James Powell, who was shot and killed by Miss Elsie Tribbetts, Sunday afternoon, died as the result of an accidental discharge of a pistol, and he relieves the girl of all blame. The girl has not yet recovered from the shock which she suffered when she saw her sweetheart fall.

Oh, You Luscious Mushroom Your Time is Well Nigh Here

Soon will be the season of the fall mushroom when one of the most delicious of luxuries may be obtained free, or at a cost of at most, a walk to the country to get it. To many this will be a most enjoyable occasion of itself, the time being the pleasantest part of the year.

The season of 1910 began with the cold rains that came early in August and was one superabundance. So favorable a one cannot be expected this year as seasons greatly favorable to any one thing seldom succeed one another. It is suspected that the extreme heat and drought of July may have interfered seriously with the coming crop by parching the development spawn.

The fall mushroom is of umbrella shape and appears in loamy grass lands where horses were pastured many years ago. The more fertile the ground the larger they will grow but not the more numerous. In blue grass is not a favorite place for them. They will be found more abundant among the finer grasses. Nearly all blue grass pastures contain patches of creep grass and among this most mushrooms will be found.

Cool weather and cold rains seem to be as necessary to the development and perfecting the mushrooms as warmth does to vegetation. An even temperature of 50 or 60 degrees is more favorable to their production. When such weather with rain comes in August or September, then get ready for a tramp to the rural district. Take a basket and a knife.

The scientists will tell you there are several varieties of fall mushrooms that are edible. The Grant county amateur confines his "catch" to one kind, but as this kind is the one that grows more abundantly than all others, it is sufficient. It is white, but becomes tanned in the sunshine. It has a thick fleshy stock or stem which may have a small orifice running lengthwise the center, but it is not hollow. When it first appears it is covered with a caul which breaks away from the stem as the mushroom develops, and remains on the cap as a peeling. On the underside of the cap, or umbrella, are numerous gills, otherwise it isn't a mushroom. The gills are a delicate flesh tint before the caul is broken, then they turn to pink changing to light brown and finally to very dark brown indicating age. They may be wholesome in the last condition but they have lost their delicate flavor. Having found the mushroom, cut it off close to the ground. In this way none of it will be wasted; neither will it be broken as it might be if it were pulled up.

Having decided it is the "right" kind, examine it for wholesomeness. Mushrooms are sometimes a host to vermin and parasites. Certain kinds of flies deposit eggs on them which hatch into worms and perforate and live in the stems and caps; they in turn, develop into the original fly. Examine the stem where cut, then separate the cap from stem and look for worms or perforation showing they are there. Reject everything that shows perforations. Sometimes vermin is found in all stages of development in a mushroom, the gills of which are yet pink. Indicating it is still fresh. Sometimes the orifice in the center of stem is taken possession of by a thousand legged or other worm.

This examination can not be made with too great care. It should be repeated when preparing the mushrooms for cooking. Illness is sometimes caused by eating the "right" kind of mushrooms, owing no doubt to neglect to attend to this very important particular. This should not create a prejudice against mushrooms. Oysters and the best cuts of meat, vegetables and melons must be fresh and clean, otherwise they too

Hanly in Eruption.

J. Frank Hanly, who, once upon a time, through a combination of circumstances over which he had no control and the grace of the Republican party, to which party he pretended to owe allegiance, was governor of Indiana, says the Columbus Republican. As plain governor, that is, as a harmless individual, who, in the morning would go to the office in the State house set apart for the Chief executive, unlock the office door and the office desk and remain there until quitting time, doing nothing more harmful than passing on few requests for pardons in such capacity Hanly, as governor, was no worse than the present occupant of the position, but as a preceptor of the morals of the State and minister plenipotentiary of the personal conduct of Hoosiers collectively and Republicans individually, he fell short of his own estimate. As a result the offices in the State house are now filled with Democrats—and Hanly gloats. After receiving the best in the State the Republican party had to bestow, the ingrate boasts that he is glad the party met defeat and hopes it will again be defeated unless it listens to his dictation.

Does J. Frank Hanly stop to consider what the Democratic party will do with the liquor question if that party remains in power in the legislative and executive branches of the State government? Hanly spouts loudly, demanding that the Republican party do thus and so or he will do all in his power to bring about his defeat or the defeat of its candidates. He knows, as everybody else knows, that the defeat of Republicans for State and legislative offices means the election of Democrats. He knows and everybody else knows what will continue to happen with a Democratic legislature and executive. Look at the recent past. What party is responsible for the restoration of saloons in the "dry" territory in Indiana? Surely not the Republican party. Prior to the repeal of the county-option law, but 18 of the 92 counties of the State were "wet." Seventy of the remaining counties had voted themselves "dry" in many instances by substantial majorities; the four other counties were "dry" by remonstrance. Along comes the Democratic victory that J. Frank Hanly gloats over and which by his own vote he doubtless helped to make possible, and automatically restores the saloon in practically seven-tenths of the counties of the State. And Hanly applauds and says he will do it again if he is not restored to office as dictator-in-chief of the Republican party, but we mistake the temper of the rank and file and of the leadership of the party if he is given the slightest encouragement. We have no place in our party for ingrates. If he feels so at home as an aider and abettor of the Democratic party his presence will not be missed in the party that lifted him up and made him the political figure he once was—a position he could have maintained had his composition been of the right sort.

The Republican party can get along without J. Frank Hanly. If the Democrats want him, whose objecting?

The Republican party's attitude on the liquor question is too well known to suffer when attacked by a J. Frank Hanly. Long before Hanly was a force in the party it handled the liquor question and proved its sincerity in championing the cause of temperance and sobriety and long after he is forgotten the party of Lincoln will continue its mission for the good of mankind.

Going Away to College.

The last two weeks of September are a period of breaking home ties in many a home, where the young folks start off for college for the first time.

To the anxious mother, who can not bear to give up her fledgling to the tender mercies of a turbulent world, it seems like the setting out of the babes of the woods for the terrors of the darksome forest.

If the boy who has always stayed at home is set adrift at a later age through some need for business change, the break often seems pretty tough to him. The fellow who at thirty years of age is confronted by the need for setting out from home ties to try his luck among strangers, feels a timid shivering from the experience that must handicap his success.

At home a fellow is protected by family connections. His social position often gives him so good a time that his ambition for business success is dulled. Out among strangers he realizes that in the long run a fellow only gets as far as his own industry carries him. College is an excellent school for teaching this lesson. Once thoroughly acquired, he can then return and settle at home, full of confidence that if need be he could make a path for himself into the unknown and succeed.

People who are familiar with what happens when a poet walks into a newspaper office may get some idea of what may be anticipated when the Supreme court gets the governor's protest about interference with the States.

Mrs. Belmont's farmette school is given up. With heavy hearts we take up the shovel and the hoe again, our hopes blasted that woman would not merely cook the vegetables but also supply them.

Gov. Harmon says he is not running for presidency, but a man who is in the hands of his friends usually has other means of locomotion figured out.

The colleges were founded to give our youth the chance to drink at the Pierian springs, but R. T. Crane of Chicago seems to think the beer bottle has been substituted.

If they don't get that Maine vote counted right pretty soon it will look as if they had had something beside Poland spring water.

RUNS TO GET OUT OF WAY OF WAGON

John Winship's Family Horse Pulls Off Runaway in Main Street
That is a "Thriller."

AVOIDS STRIKING VEHICLES

In order to get away from a wagon which it drew John B. Winship's family horse pulled off a little runaway stunt in Main street last night about eight o'clock that looked like a real "thriller" for a time. The hold-backs on the shafts were too long and allowed the wagon to run on the heels of the horse when it started down the Main street hill. Apparently the horse wanted to free itself of the incumbrance and it started to run. It dashed down through the business district of the city and only narrowly missed several other vehicles.

The animal was hitched to a dilapidated wagon and the noise which the wagon made clanging over the brick pavement attracted many people to the street. One of the tugs was dragging and eye-witnesses feared that the horse would turn a corner and toss the four occupants out. Buford Winship worked gallantly attempting to bring the horse to a standstill all to no avail. The animal was finally stopped south of the city. Miss Fay Lowe, Ben Sparks, Frank Priest and Buford Winship were in the wagon.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

For the last few evenings a number of high school students have been visiting L. B. Smelser, instructor and physical director in the high school and making life almost miserable for him and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Smelser having been married recently. Last night the same stunt was repeated, but Mr. Smelser was prepared and that's where the fun comes in. When the gang of students gathered around the house there was some sort of a smacking noise from the interior of the house and the crowd was convulsed with laughter. While they were hugely enjoying the joke, Mr. Smelser came to the door and dashed a pan of water on the crowd. They might as well have jumped in the river, so wet were they. Then a reconciliation was effected and the youthful visitors were invited into the house. Mr. and Mrs. Smelser produced a bountiful supply of fudge and the evening that was begun so disastrously for the young folks ended very delightfully.

A very enjoyable affair Tuesday afternoon was a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. V. T. Lindsay, 603 South Fifth street, at which their daughter Miss Joy Lindsay, was formally introduced to Springfield society, says the Illinois State Journal of Springfield. Miss Lindsay, who is the youngest daughter of Doctor and Mrs. Lindsay, was graduated from Hiram College, Cleveland, Ohio, in June. Miss Lindsay was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Frazee and daughter, Miss Frances of Rushville, Ind., and Mrs. Dudley Chaffee of Peoria. Mrs. Lindsay was handsomely gowned in lavender silk crepe with a fichu of real lace. Miss Joy Lindsay's gown was of Paris muslin and was remarkable for its charming simplicity. Mrs. Frazee wore gray hand embroidered silk crepe. Miss Frazee's gown was of pale blue silk with an over-drapery of blue chiffon. Mrs. Chaffee wore white silk with an over-drapery of hand embroidered net. Mrs. Frazee is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Lindsay.

The Lindsay home was profusely decorated throughout with flowers. In the hall were roses. The color scheme of the decorations for the drawing room was pink and green. This was prettily carried out in china asters. In the library asters were employed in bearing out a color scheme of white and green. The color scheme of the dining room decorations was effectively carried out in lavender china asters.

The honorary hostesses were the Mesdames Charles S. Deneen, H. C. Shumway, M. D. Moore, Geo. Southers, George Pasfield, Sr., and J. W. Jefferson.

The ladies who assisted in the dining room were Mesdames C. C. Brown, C. W. Freeman, R. D. Berry, F. Drake, H. Williams, F. B. Burnham, Hugh T. Morrison, H. B. Henkel, G. A. Hulet, J. H. Matheny, J. H. Paddock, W. E. Robinson, William Vredenburg, E. H. Harriman, A. B. Babcock, J. Fogarty, Louis Coleman, Frank Macpherson, Stanley Castle, and Burt Stokes, and the Misses Eleanor Perry and Isabella Fogarty.

Presiding over the punch bowl were the Misses Edna Creighton, Edith Matheny, Lucy Bates, Mary Johnson, Olga Smith, Pauline Johnson, Nellie Hemenway, Georgia Smith, Nettie Barnes and Mesdames Creighton, Bora and Vincent Dallman.

In the evening the Lindsays and their house guests were entertained informally at the executive mansion by Mrs. Charles S. Deneen.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have the usual change of program tonight. The first picture is an Essanay entitled, "The Backwoodsman's Suspicion." It is a story of the rough life of a lumber camp and is a very thrilling picture. "The Old Folk's Sacrifice" is a vitagraph. It is a touching picture, full of human interest.

The Portola offers a Vitagraph and Biograph film for this evening. "On a Tramp Steamer" is a Vitagraph drama and is said to be very sensational. The scenes are taken on board a large ocean steamer and the events are very dramatic. The Biograph is entitled "Bobby, the Coward." It is said to be an unusually good drama.

A LITTLE DANDERINE WILL MAKE YOUR HAIR LUSTROUS, SOFT, FLUFFY, ABUNDANT

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

If you Wish to Double the Beauty of your Hair in Ten Minutes surely Try a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, after one application of Danderine you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair, and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. Danderine makes the hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can give it. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Keweenaw's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

OH, YOU LUSCIOUS MUSHROOM TIME

are poison.

Having gathered your little basket full, the next thing is to decide what to do with them. Most people will be strongly inclined to feast off them at their own home, but if they have a surplus quantity of them they can earn most grateful appreciation by a gift of part of them to neighbors who may be unable to gather them for themselves.

Frying is the favorite way of cooking mushrooms and the sooner after gathering the better.

If the directions herein given have been complied with; if they have been cut off with a knife instead of pulled up by the roots, they will be clean and free from soil and not in need of washing which should be avoided if they would be served at their best.

Prepare them by separating the stems from the caps. Scrape the stems slightly and pull peeling off of the caps. For a fancy dish such as is proper to serve to the king, the president, one's beau or best girl, use only the unbroken caps, and cook as follows: Put a generous quantity of best butter in a skillet; get it very hot and have a fire that will keep it so; place the caps in it one by one; let cook a minute, then turn and cook the other side a minute; keeping cover on skillet. This is sufficient cooking. Place them gill side up on a hot dish and pour drawn butter on each. Salt to taste after cooking, as salting before cooking turns them black.

The stems and broken caps can be stewed in hot butter and fried two or three minutes, keeping cover on skillet and stirring at intervals of a half minute.

If serving can not be done soon after gathering, the mushrooms should be cleaned as directed and put in mild salt water until time to cook. This will keep them sweet and prevent development of parasites. Soaking in salt water will wilt them and turn the gills black but will not disqualify them. The water absorbed by the gills can and should be squeezed out before cooking them.

A suggestion here may not be out of place. Ask permission before going on a man's farm. The farmer is usually good natured and generous, and it results in his being imposed upon. The fence around his field should be as adequate protection against trespassing as is the door of your house, but you are used to going over, under and through it. If it were a little high, you throw off a rail and left it off, or you went through the gate and left it open. Some of his stock jumped over the low place where you took the rail off; others got out through the gate you left open. The privileges you have taken have caused him trouble and expense. He will appreciate it if you are considerate of his rights. Often he may be able to say where the good places are, and will tell you how to avoid the bull.

TWO FAMILIES SLAIN WITH AX

Horrid Crime Revealed at Colorado Springs.

The Home of Arthur J. Burnham and the Home of Henry F. Wayne, an Indiana Man, Entered by Unknown and the Inmates Cruelly Slain—Burnham, Only Member of the Two Families to Survive, Is Held.

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 21.—While asleep in their beds, six persons were murdered in cold blood. Their skulls were crushed with an ax, which, covered with blood, was found by a neighbor, who thought it had been used in killing chickens.

The dead are: Mary Alice Burnham, wife of Arthur J. Burnham; Alice Burnham, six years old, and John Burnham, three, all of 321 West Dale street; Henry F. Wayne, aged thirty; Blanche Wayne, his wife, twenty-five years old, and a one-year-old child of the Waynes.

The discovery of the bodies was made by Mrs. June Reath, a sister of the murdered Mrs. Burnham, who lives in a distant part of the city. In company with Miss Anna Merritt, who lives near the scene of the murder, Mrs. Reath called on the Burnhams to do some sewing. Finding the door locked, they gained admittance at the side door. They found the victims in bed with the coverlet over their heads, placed there by the murderer after he had mashed their heads with an ax.

An alarm was given. The neighbors rushed to the Wayne house, which stands in the rear of the lot, but faces Harrison place. The rear door was unlocked. The same sickening details were found there as in the Burnham home. The victims were all in bed with their skulls crushed and with the bed covers neatly placed over their heads.

Arthur J. Burnham, husband of the murdered woman and father of the murdered children, is a cook employed at the Modern Woodmen of the World sanitarium, five miles north of Colorado Springs. He is under arrest, but so far no clue has been found implicating him. Little is known of the Wayne family. They came from Indiana here recently, Wayne himself entering the sanitarium as a patient. The two families are said to have been strangers to each other. Burnham and Wayne were acquainted, however, and on friendly terms. Burnham denies his guilt and was apparently shocked at the announcement of the murders when he was placed under arrest at the sanitarium.

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY

Three Tennesseans Slain in Dispute Over a Girl.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 21.—Because Miss Elsie Ellis refused to accompany Obie Butler, aged thirty, home from a dance at Rafter, Tenn., three men are dead. When she refused to go with Butler Miss Ellis requested Olney Phillips, aged seventeen, to accompany her. When Butler saw them leave the dance he followed and shot Phillips dead. John Heading, aged twenty-five, then rushed up to Butler and asked why he had shot Phillips. In reply Butler shot Heading five times, killing him instantly. The third death came when an unknown person shot Butler from behind, the ball piercing his brain.

No Nearer a Solution.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—The investigation of the murder of Henry C. Weisenborn, the young business man who was killed at a lonely place in North Senate avenue last Saturday night, practically is at a standstill. Following the detention of Philip S. Brown, brother-in-law of the murdered man, his release on bond and the submission of evidence in his alibi, the slight efforts of the police to unravel the mystery have brought the case no nearer to a solution.

A New Form of Theft.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 21.—Virgil Anderson is charged with the theft of a bridge over Little Blue river. It has been several months since it disappeared, and the theft was not laid to Anderson until the police happened to be searching the Anderson lot and found some of the timbers.

GIANT STEAMER IN A COLLISION

The Olympic Rammed By a British Cruiser.

BOTH VESSELS MUCH DAMAGED

A Great Hole Was Torn in the Side of the Monster Passenger Vessel, While Bows of Cruiser Were Crumpled Up Like Sheets of Paper—Watertight Compartments Precluded Danger and There Was No Panic.

Southampton, Sept. 21.—The British protected cruiser Hawke crashed into the White Star liner Olympic, the biggest ship afloat, in the Solent off Cowes in the Isle of Wight. Both vessels sustained considerable damage, but both were able to reach places of safety under their own steam. The cruiser returned to Portsmouth, from which she had just put out. The liner is anchored off Calshot castle. The Olympic had on board almost 3,000 persons, 2,685 passengers, and about 900 in her crew. Naturally there was great excitement on board, but not the least sign of panic. As illustrating the coolness of all hands, it is told that a number of Americans on deck made bets as the vessels approached each other, as to whether or not a collision would occur.

The collision seems all but inexplicable. The Olympic had shortly before made a considerable curve, but she was now holding a straight course, when suddenly, as all the observers seem to agree, the Hawke made a swerve in her direction and a minute later the two vessels were smashing and grinding in collision. The Hawke struck the big liner on her starboard quarter, just aft the fourth funnel.

In a minute or so the vessels wrenched themselves apart. The bows of the cruiser were crumpled up like sheets of paper and great slits were visible extending below the water line, into which the sea rushed in cataclysm. In the side of the liner a deep hole had been punched forty feet wide and extending from her lower open deck to below the water line. Out of this passengers' trunks and other articles tumbled into the water, while a flood began pouring into the vessel's hold.

But almost before the collision had taken place, the officers on the bridge of the Olympic had started the apparatus for the closing of the water-tight bulkheads. These work almost automatically on the touch of an electric button, and inside a minute the section which had been laid open to the sea was cut off from the rest of the ship. It was decided to anchor the ship off Calshot castle at the entrance of the Solent, at which point the passengers and mails could be easily taken from her tenders for transfer to other ships, while she would remain conveniently located for proceeding to Belfast, where the repairs on her will have to be made.

TOO MUCH FOR THEM

Congregation Couldn't Stand Loud Prayers of This Penitent.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 21.—To what pitch and at what length may a repentant sinner lift his voice at a church service without disturbing the peace is a question to be decided by Justice of the Peace Hanawalt.

In an affidavit Deacon Harvey Helvie of the Zion Evangelical church recites that he exhorted John Clouse "to lift his voice in repentance," and Clouse obeyed so earnestly and persistently that neither the pastor nor the choir could make themselves heard, and the service was abandoned. Pastor, choir and leading members of the church are summoned as witnesses in the case, and some of them will defend Clouse as having been within his rights.

DIED IN EXILE

St. Thomas, D. W. I., Sept. 21.—General Antenor Firmin, who deserted his post as Haytian minister at London to help overthrow President Simon of Hayti, is dead here.

Firmin led one of the two revolutionary parties and was a candidate for the presidency in succession to Simon. However, General Le Conte, the other revolutionary chief, was the first to reach Port-au-Prince after the success of the revolution had been assured, and he assumed the presidency before Firmin could muster sufficient strength to give him a fighting chance at the capital.

Yeggs Tie Up Postoffice Supplies. Andrews, Ind., Sept. 21.—Three safe blowers entered the postoffice here and had charged the safe and attached the fuse when driven away by the watchman. They escaped by auto and no further trace of them has been found. Postoffice employees feared to touch the safe and the postoffice inspector is awaited to open the safe.

Why Don't You Own a Motor Car?

Is it because of—

original cost?
cost of operation?
inability to take care of a car?
the expense of keeping a chauffeur?

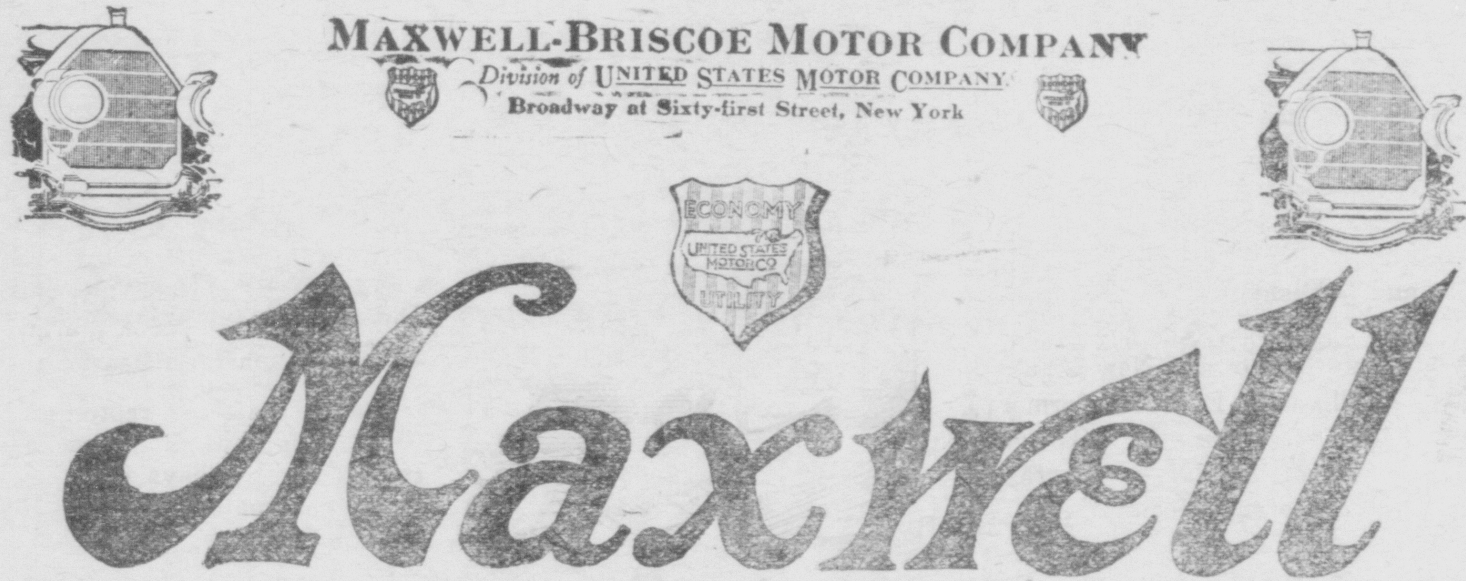

SUPPOSE all these conditions were overcome and your purchase could be regarded as a good investment. That intrinsically your car would command the highest second-hand price on the market. That original cost was one you can afford, and cost of operation the lowest of any car made. That because of simple and durable construction, easy control and accessibility of all parts, a chauffeur would be entirely unnecessary and caring for your car a pleasing pastime. Suppose all this were true, that 44,000 owners prove it, wouldn't you want to own such a car?

Unquestionably you would.

TUBERCULOSIS RAVAGES STATE

Statistics Prepared by State Board of Health Show Terrible Death Rate in August.

ONE DIES EVERY TWO HOURS
Scourge Kills 317 People And Makes 198 Orphans in Indiana—Other Health Statistics.

Vital statistics prepared by the State Board of Health show that there was an average of one death almost every two hours in Indiana from tuberculosis during the month of August. The ravages of the "white plague" in the state resulted in 317 deaths and almost 200 children were made orphans.

The statistics show that a large percentage of the victims were adults. Of the total number that died of the disease, 158 were males and 159 females. Of the males, twenty-eight were between 18 and 40 years old and their deaths resulted in fifty-seven children being made orphans. Sixty-nine women fell victims to the disease and they left 141 orphans. More than six children became orphans each day as a result of the tuberculosis scourge, declares Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the board.

"It is not strange that business men do not strive continually to suppress this destructive force, which brings a financial loss to Indiana of more than $10,000,000 annually," asked Dr. Hurty.

The board of statistics show that the annual birth rate in Indiana in July was 20.6 for each 1,000 of population. Starke County displaced Warren County at the top of the list of counties in the birth rate statistics. Starke shows a rate of 35.5 for each 1,000 of population. Warren County usually leads the procession of counties in high birth rates. Franklin County shows the lowest with 13 for each 1,000 of population. The figures are based on the number of deaths that would result each year for each 1,000 inhabitants if the July rate was maintained through each month.

There were seventy-seven negro children born in the state during the month, thirty-five of them being males and forty-two females. The birth rate in the northern sanitary section of the state was the lowest of the three sections, the average being 19.9 births to each 1,000 inhabitants. The southern sanitary region ranked highest, as usual, with a birth rate of 21.1, and the central section reported a rate of 20.8 to each 1,000 inhabitants.

A systematic fight against disease is being planned by the Y. M. C. A. at New Orleans, La., which telegraphed to the Indiana Health Board yesterday for 300 copies of the board's pamphlet on "Hygiene vs. the Social Plagues." The Y. M. C. A. at Portland, Ore., also telegraphed yesterday for 100 copies of the pamphlet.

Kiev, Sept. 21.—The city is calm, but depressed, under the espionage of 30,000 troops, and the Jews continue to flee by the hundred, fearing an anti-Semitic outbreak. The body of Premier Stolypin was taken to St. Petersburg for burial. Governor General Trepoft has issued notice that disorders will not be tolerated.

CHAMP CLARK GOES BACK TO OLD HOME

Thousands of Kentuckians Give Cordial Welcome.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., Sept. 21.—Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives, "came home" to make a speech in behalf of the state Democratic ticket. An escort composed of 100 men, who were pupils of Clark when he taught school in Anderson county nearly forty years ago, were at the depot to welcome him. He spoke on "Triumphant Democracy." The people of Lawrenceburg and surrounding country turned the assembly into a picnic gathering. Five thousand gallons of burgoo was served free to men, women and children. One of the features of the day was a parade participated in by nearly every man in the town.

DID NOT FALL FAR SHORT OF MARK SET

Four Hundred and Fifty Rush County Odd Fellows Attend Big Celebration.

STAND CHANCE FOR THE PRIZE

Rush county Odd Fellows did not fall far short of their mark when they set out to have a delegation of five hundred in Indianapolis last night for the torch light procession which was a part of the program at the Sovereign Grand Lodge meeting. There were four hundred and fifty Odd Fellows in the city and two hundred and eighty-five of them were in the line of march. The confusion was so great that a number of them could not find the Rush county delegation. Three hundred and sixty-two went up on the Big Four special train which arrived back here this morning at 3:25 o'clock. J. T. Arbuckle of this city was one of the assistant marshals of the day. The Rush county delegation stands a good chance for the prize which will be awarded to the largest number of Odd Fellows from any one county.

Will This Be Your Home?

When the snow falls, and the cold winds sweep 'round your home, will your wife and children inside be warm and comfortable and happy? Will every room in the house be opened up---every bedroom heated?

Or will the greater part of the house be closed up---unused during the entire winter? Will your children have to undress and go to bed in cold, unhealthy rooms? Will your wife be complaining of the frigid atmosphere of the few rooms that are not closed---because the stove does not heat them as it should?

Which Will be Your Home?

You can have every room in your house warm and comfortable on the coldest day of winter---and with less expense than is necessary to heat just a few rooms with an ordinary stove---if you buy a FAVORITE BASE BURNER.

A FAVORITE BASE BURNER will keep every part of your house warm all winter, and do it with from two to three tons of coal. Every square inch of the Favorite radiates heat which constantly circulates throughout the home, keeping every part of it at an even temperature, night and day.

Don't compare the Favorite with any other heating stove. The triple exposed flues and back---the "paper-tight" construction---the beauty of design---put the Favorite in a class by itself.
